Removing the Pain of Want

He who understands the limits of life knows how easy it is to procure enough to remove the pain of want and make the whole life complete and perfect. Hence he has no longer any need of things which are to be won only by labor and conflict.—Epicurus.

Terrazzo Long in Use

Terrazzo was old before this country was discovered. It was known to and used extensively by the early Venetians, and many patterns designed by them are copied. Not only is terrazzo used as a flooring, but it also is employed in a number of other ways in construction.

Bilateral, Multilateral Treaty

In its simplest terms, a bilateral treaty is an agreement or contract between two governments with respect to certain matters of mutual interest. A multilateral treaty is one that has been signed and effected as between three or more governments and deals with matters of more or less common interest to all of them.

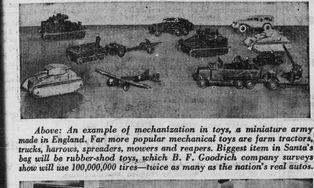
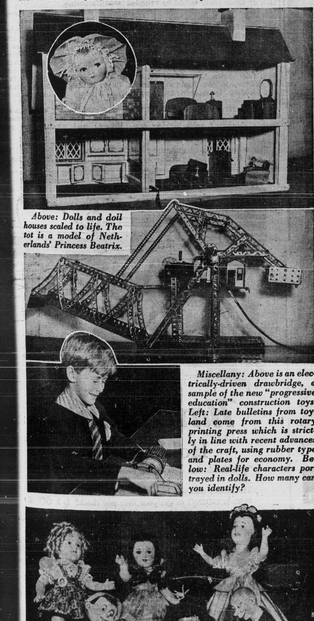
Peace Theme Features Toys For U. S. Children This Year

Christmas 1939 will be a cavalcade of peace for American kiddies; in his $225,000,000 pack, St. Nick will carry less than one per cent of military playthings. There will be fewer imported toys, too, for, bent learning by doing is stressed for growing youngsters; chemistry sets will feature microscopes.



Above: An example of mechanization in toys, a miniature army made in England. Far more popular mechanical toys are farm tractors, trucks, harrows, spreaders, mowers and reapers. Biggest item in Santa's bag will be rubber-shod toys, which B. F. Goodrich company surveys show will use 100,000,000 tires—twice as many as the nation's real autos.



Above: Dolls and doll houses scaled to life. The last is a model of Netherlands' Princess Beatrix.

Work Starts on State Police Radio Station Building

Work began this week on the State Police Radio Station two miles west of Appomattox. The job will require around four months for completion. E. W. Sumner, superintendent for the WPA on the project, arrived Saturday from Culpeper, where a similar state police radio station is nearing completion. He stated that a regular crew of about 25 men would be employed.

The building will be 25x37 feet, one story, and of brick and concrete material. The radio tower will be 310 feet high, and located just back of the building. It is estimated that labor and materials on the project will amount to $19,000 and $10,000 respectively.

This unit will be part of the new Virginia police radio system.

'Tom, Dick, & Harry' Byrd Join Local Red Cross Here

The Rev. W. M. Black, county Red Cross roll call chairman, announces that he has received memberships from "Tom, Dick and Harry" Byrd, through Miss Eula May Burks, for 1940. Since Appomattox county is the ancestral home of their mother and their illustrious uncle, the late H. D. Flood, these distinguished persons annually renew an affectionate affiliation with the community welfare through enrollment in the Red Cross chapter.

It was also announced by Miss Kate Davidson, of Sheffield district, that Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jabell, of Washington, D. C., and John L. Harrison, of Goochland county, have voluntarily answered the roll call, these bring the first three persons to join for Appomatox county.

Rev. Black has the county organized so as to give every person in the county an opportunity to join and urges that since it is so difficult for the solicitors to contact everybody that you make the privilege of joining your responsibility. Memberships may be secured at either of the local banks or through a large committee in wergy community. The memberships range from $1.00 to $100.00 each. The demands upon the Red Cross at this time because of world unrest, have made it necessary to make the appeal to those who cherish the cause of humanity. Local quotas have been discarded. The need is held to be such that there be no minimum membership.

R. Alfred O'Brien is roll call chairman for the town of Appomattox. Chairmen of the soliciting committee are Mrs. Virginia Moses Babcock, and Miss Virginia Cralle. They are assisted by a large committee of workers. It is hoped that all citizens of the town will enroll as members before November 30. The local chapter renders a worthy service to the county.

NOTICE

Due to the fact that we are observing a one-day holiday Thanksgiving day, this issue was printing one day earlier than usual, and many news articles reached us too late to be set in type. They will be carried in our next issue.

CLOSED TODAY

The local banks and post-office and a number of business places are closed today in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Hope to Have REA Current On Dec. 1st

People living on the new REA line in Appomattox county have been urged to hurry their house wiring so the current can be turned on by December 1st, which has been set as the date for the line to be energized. Less than half of the homes have been wired thus far, and the regulations require seventy five per cent before current can be cut on.

J. E. Sheffield, state electrical inspector has been checking house wiring this week on the REA project.

When the REA line now nearing completion is energized, it will serve approximately 200 rural customers, and cover a distance of about 50 miles, and mean that the county will have a grand total of about 80 miles or rural electric lines.
